Northwest Funds - Aiming for Better Returns with Less Risk

To understand how Northwest Funds are managed, you don't have to look any further than the name. 'Northwest' refers to the northwest quadrant of the chart that plots risk versus return – the domain of better returns with less risk.

An investment in Northwest Funds earns you our commitment to strive for the best risk managed returns possible. Our belief is that while the markets seem increasingly prone to volatile up and down swings, you and your money shouldn't have to endure that same level of stress.

At Northwest Funds we provide a full comprehensive suite of core and specialty funds as well as tax efficient corporate class. We employ some of the best forward-looking value managers in the industry – managers with a history of creating exceptional performance in good markets and preserving capital when markets are down.
